BACK FROM WAR ZONE

MRS. J. L. WHITTAKER
TELLS OF ZEPPELIN
RAIDS ON LONDON

Having resided in Germany for a considerable time before the war broke out Mrs. J. L. Whittaker and her daughter, who was studying music in Berlin, managed to get away with some difficulty and to reach London, England, where they stayed up till the middle of July this year. During their stay in Germany they made many warm friends, but after the war broke out the feeling against British and English-speaking people generally became very bitter and, like many others who did not wish to face martial rule in Germany, they left as soon as they could get transportation.

"In Berlin," said Mrs. Whittaker to a representative of the Glendale Evening News, "everything savored of the army. The military were everywhere and there was a martial ring in the air that should have been quite significant to those who could read the signs of the times. Apparently everything had been so carefully organized and every detail of the coming campaign so thoroughly understood that the marchings and entrainments of the troops worked like clock work. There was enthusiasm, but no excitement."

"In London, England, we took up our residence in the beautiful residence quarter of St. John's Wood, and there the rush of the war current did not affect us. Of course London was full of soldiers. Every park had its detachment of recruits drilling diligently. Uniforms were everywhere.

"The British are not an excitable people and they cannot be stampeded. They are quietly confident that no matter how long it may take they will in the end be victorious. They have the utmost confidence in their fleet and in their citizen armies which Kitchener has raised so wonderfully. Whatever the Germans may think, there is but one sentiment in England—that is, that the British must win at all hazards. To this end they are all prepared to make any sacrifice.

"While we were in London Zeppelin raids occurred. The British do not publish the localities of these raids because they do not intend to give the Germans information as to where their bombs fall. It is known, however, that the Germans have been very far off in their estimation of the localities where the attacks were made. Apparently they mistook certain lakes for the river Thames. The city is darkened at night and it is next to an impossibility to pick up any locality from a vast height in the air. Besides the British air squadron is always on the alert and the Zeppelins have to make a quick retreat the moment they discharge their bombs.

"We were coming home one night just as the theaters were closing. The people were pouring out into the streets when the news was passed through the crowds that a Zeppelin raid was in progress. There was much indignation among the people, but no excitement. A gentleman told me shortly after that he had witnessed the attack. The Zeppelin which he saw discharged an incendiary bomb. The course of the bomb was invisible as it fell and the moment it struck the house on which it fell the whole building burst into flames.

"Just before we left Berlin we attended the theater when a performance was given by the famous Russian choir. The kaiser and kaisserin were present and loudly applauded the performers. The Russians sang their choruses without accompaniment and the audience was as enthusiastic as the kaiser in their approval of the singers. Now everything is changed. Russian music is tabooed in Berlin.

"Leaving London July 14, on the Arabic, which was sunk by the Germans, we had ample evidence of the realities of war. A British destroyer accompanied the Arabic down the river and as long as the boat was within what is considered the danger zone we wore life belts or had them handy. The vessel's lights were mostly extinguished and the port-holes covered at night. Transatlantic travel has been greatly lessened since the outbreak of the war. The Arabic had only about half its usual list of passengers. We got safely to New York and

H. E. BETZ AND PARTY
HAVE UNIQUE EXPERI-ENCE NEAR MAMMOTH

It is becoming quite the fashion to motor to the Inyo mountains. This season several parties from Glendale have made the trip, which is rather exciting on account of the difficulties of the roads. Inyo county has been styled "the Switzerland of America" and the name gives an idea of the kind of country tourists have to negotiate. Every summer sees an increase in the number of parties who make the trip through the Alpine mountains of the county which is perhaps the most picturesque in all California.

H. E. Betz, 124 N. Kenwood street, made the journey recently accompanied by Mrs. Betz and also by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Good of North Louise street, who occupied one of the autos, of which Mr. Betz had two on the journey. Two other autos also made the trip along with the Glendale people. They all found the roads very rough, sandy and steep.

"We had a most beautiful time," said Mr. Betz to a representative of the Glendale Evening News. "The ride up the hill country was exhilarating and stimulating after the heat of the valley. The higher up we got the more difficult the road became. The climb up to Bishop is very steep and we saw some of the natives on the watch for a breakdown. We were told that at times some of them make a few dollars drawing incapable autos up the hill, but we had no need of such assistance.

"Anything more beautiful than the mountain scenery of Inyo county could not be imagined. The summits of the mountains seem to tower into the very sky; exquisite shades of coloring clothe the herbage that decked their sides. The very atmosphere is different from that of the lowlands. The mountain breezes seem to breathe life and energy into every nerve and fibre of one's being.

"We went much further up than Bishop; in fact, to Mammoth, 50 miles further on. There the elevation makes it quite cool. There are innumerable streams of the purest and coolest mountain spring water imaginable. Those streams are full of trout. The fish are so eager to be caught that everybody manages to catch all he wants. No need to tell fish stories there. We caught lots of trout and found them delicious eating.

"It is possible to get all the fresh milk one wants at the farms; fine butter also. In fact one is easily as comfortable as in one's own house.

"Coming back we had trouble of the worst kind. Fortunately we were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Hodge of Vine street. Mr. Hodge is a first-class mechanic. He stayed with us and helped to mend our crank case which was broken. The job he did on this was excellent and a marvel of ingenuity. On our return journey we were accompanied by Mr. H. J. Engelbrecht of Santa Monica and by Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Jackson of Santa Monica and Mr. and Mrs. Gifford of Los Angeles."

EUROPE IS WAR DRUNK

UNITED PRESS CORRESPONDENT TELLS OF SITUATION AMONG THE WARRING NATIONS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—In wine, it sometimes is said, there is truth. War is intoxicating and, in the wine of war, there is truth. The nations of Europe are drunk with war; their masks are off; you can see them as they really are. Just as a drunken man shows his inner self, so do the war-drunk nations of Europe reveal, to the careful observer, their inner thoughts and motives.

The revelations of the war in Europe are not confined to the nations of Europe, but extend to the United States. A man who has been in Europe, knee deep in war, for the past year, and then returns to the United States, sees the land of the Stars and Stripes in a new light. I have discovered America.

The first discovery was in Europe. In all the truthfulness of their war intoxication, the Europeans showed me the United States as they saw it, and I was not ashamed, but proud.

"The United States is the conscience of the world," said a famous German college professor, now the German army censor at Munich. "The world has gone mad, but your land alone is cool and sane and we must look to you, at the finish of the war, to tell us what sanity is."

At the English front, after a day in the trenches, I sat beside a grate fire in a little hotel a few miles out of shell fire. I didn't want to go to bed for fear of seeing again, in my sleep, some of the sights I had witnessed during the day. Perhaps the British officers who were sitting around felt the same.

Suddenly one of them spoke: "One of the greatest men this world ever saw," he said, "was Abraham Lincoln. I've read every word I could find about him, and my two little daughters and two little sons know everything about Abraham Lincoln that I do."

"Yes," spoke up another British officer. "Do you know, I've heard Lincoln mentioned ever so many times lately. Something in this war, it seems, appears to have turned attention to Lincoln, though I can't tell why. I've just read a book about him and I know ever so many people in London who've done the same. The newspapers keep quoting him all the time, too."

"It's because he was always for the under-dog," said the first officer. "He was brave and patient and kind and honest. You know, my children love that story about him and the six-penny pieces he had in an old sock."

"What was that?" asked a third officer.

"Well, one time Lincoln kept a grocer's shop in a little village and the village postoffice was in a corner of his shop. He had charge of it. One day he failed in business; he'd tried to make a go of it for months, but down he went. All the citizens of the village thought he was ruined and some of the men, who were his good friends, feared that he had probably used the postoffice money in trying to save his shop. So they collected about forty pounds among themselves—you know everybody who knew Lincoln loved him—and took it to him. 'Here's forty pounds, Abe,' they said. 'We figured that you had lost the postoffice money, too, in the smash, and as soon as the sheriff comes around and finds it out you'll be in trouble.' Just wait a minute, boys," said Lincoln. "I'll run upstairs and get the postoffice bank and see how I stand."

"Pretty soon he came downstairs carrying an old sock, full of coins, six pences and thrupences and pennies, and they were the very coins that he had been taking in at the postoffice window during all the hard months."

"Lincoln counted it all out and then he said: 'Thanks, awfully boys, but don't believe I need a cent of your money.'

"That's the story about Lincoln that my children love the best," concluded the Britisher.

In London some weeks later at several bookstores I discovered there had been a growing demand since the war began for books on Lincoln.

HOMESTEAD OPPORTUNITIES

A map of California, showing the designation of the enlarged homestead areas to June 30, has been prepared and issued by the general land office at Washington. There are many desirable homestead locations available at this time, which, in the course of a few years, will become valuable property. A copy of this valuable map may be had free by sending a request to Congressman Charles H. Randall, Highland Park.

MRS. PEARCE IN RACE

By error the name of Mrs. A. D. Pearce was omitted from the list of contestants yesterday. Her friends noticed the omission immediately and the telephone wires were kept busy asking us to explain why Mrs. Pearce's name was not published.

Allow us to say that Mrs. Pearce is in the contest to remain until the last minute and this little error on our part seemed to make clear the fact that her friends have not forgotten her.

Cooler weather has made it pleasant for all the contestants to work and extremely careless is the one who remains idle one hour of the time between now and 9 o'clock Saturday evening. Not only the contestants, but their well-wishing friends should be busy piling up votes. Do not feel unkindly toward contestants if they do not take time to visit with you. They are too busy to spend time visiting with anybody. The contestants are:

Mrs. A. D. Pearce.
Mrs. J. C. May.
Miss Ruth Wright.
Morse Preeman.
Newton McGillis.
Miss Virginia Graham.
Miss Cora Hickman.

BAND SEASON CLOSES

After a season of strenuous work in the way of practice and public performance, the engagement of the municipal band came to an end Friday last week. The band which is under the management of Mr. C. D. Furst, and under the direction of Frank Thorpe, had a contract with the city to play every second Friday at specified stations in the city. This it did and earned the good will and approval of the large crowds who listened to the varied programs of music presented. It is generally thought that some provision should be made by

"SCIENTIFIC INVESTIGATION" OF WANDERLUST

Nowadays if an official has a desire to get into the public eye he looks about and finally fixes on some phase of human effort that he may investigate. It is easy to declare that investigation is needed for investigation is in the air and is as popular as the rack and the thumbscrew were at one period of history. The desire to interfere with the orbit in which other souls are swinging seems to be irresistible to some people, during the present cycle of human existence.

A probation officer recently informed a judge of a juvenile court that a "probe" of the "wanderlust" was necessary because of the number of cases of runaway boys and girls that come to the attention of his office. The officer says he wants a chance to see what this "wanderlust" really is, and wants to make what he styles a "scientific study" of the "wanderlust."

In one case recently under observation it was found that while the boy had an irresistible desire to wander about, his mental and physical condition was above normal.

It would appear that the world is fortunate in not having had such officers in the early days of the Christian era or they would have been locking up the apostle Paul as a vagrant and one affected with "wanderlust." It is easy to imagine such a busy official halting Columbus as he was about to start on his voyage of discovery and bidding him come down to the alcalde's office for a mental and physical test after the Binet fashion.

As far as can be seen Cortez, the famous conqueror of Mexico, was a confirmed wanderer. The wanderlust struck him at an early date and before he was seventeen he was a stowaway. The modern probation officer would have stopped him in his early career and Diaz, Villa and Carranza would have been unknown. Columbus having been stopped at the outset of his career it is conceivable that the redman would never have known the blessings of Christian improvement and the world might have witnessed the灭亡 of a red republic in the land that is now the United States.

It may be that the world is getting too prosaic for such adventurers as those of the early days. Francis Drake, Frobisher, Magellan, Captain Cook, how much they lost by not being introduced to the methods of the juvenile court and the probation officer! Think of what they missed! They might have stayed at home and learned a trade!

EFFECTS OF SUBMARINE WARFARE

According to foreign critics Germany is beginning to realize that the effects of her submarine warfare are not by any means so great as was at first represented. In fact, it is stated that the best German authorities are now willing to confess that the warfare under sea does not justify the large claims made for it when the attacks began. Germans are now ready to confess that their submarine warfare has not in any way served the purpose of a blockade. It has been the hope in Germany that the submarine warfare would operate in similar manner to that in which the British fleet operates against Germany. This, it is now seen, is very wide of the mark. British trade has suffered very little and there has been only a slight advance in marine insurance.

One of the most open comments on this singular situation is that recently made by the Berliner Tagesblatt, one of the leading German papers. That paper estimates that only one and a half merchant ships have been sunk daily since the submarine warfare began and points out that this is a "very modest" result. The Tagesblatt blames the newspapers generally for arousing extravagant belief as to the effectiveness of the German blockading force.

It is also stated by other authorities that the constant cry of "patience" to those who are demanding greater deeds on the part of the submarines cannot longer be maintained. The blockade, they say, is revealing itself as a fiasco to the Germans. It is but a pin prick compared to what might be accomplished by a fleet capable of maintaining a real blockade.

When the actual facts become known in Germany there will be a pitiful reaction from the present extravagant belief in the prowess of the under-sea boat. The desire to injure England at any cost has led German leaders and people to magnify the victories of submarines and it will be a great blow to many when they have to readjust their vision to the actual facts.

The action of the Tagesblatt is likely to call down upon it official wrath; but telling the truth about the matter also is likely also to further the cause of peace. It is certain, before long, to be understood in Germany that the submarine warfare cannot seriously affect economic conditions in England, no matter how long the war may last.

It is a matter for congratulation when any part of the great war going on in Europe is seen in its real light. Truth is a great clarifier of difficult situations and the outcome of a war can never be forecast from naturally prejudiced representations of one side or the other.

AMERICAN DOLLAR ON TOP

For centuries English gold has been the money most in evidence the world over. In every part of the world an English sovereign has always been worth its full value. Of course there have been exchange charges, but those have not usually amounted to much more than was necessary to defray the necessary expense of handling. Up till now the English sovereign has had an exchange value of about $4.87. Now all this is changed. The value of the pound sterling has dropped to $4.48 and may go lower unless the long-talked-of credit is arranged quickly. This naturally is the result of war and of the enormous expenditures for munitions in this country. Those purchases must be paid for and as the payments have been slow English credit has been impaired and America is reaping the advantage of holding the bulk of the world's gold. How Britain is to meet her obligations is a serious question, but not so serious as how some of the other nations are to meet theirs. Already there is talk of repudiation.

daughter, Miss Mildred, and Ed. Thomas, returned last week from an auto trip to the Yosemite and San Francisco. They went the valley route and returned by the coast route which was preferable on account of coolness. The roads, generally speaking, are pretty good. The highway, however, was very bad going into the Yosemite valley, but the scenery well paid for the side trip. Spencer Corey was chauffeur. The party took a side trip from Raymond, Cal., into Mariposa county, where as far as known only one machine had gone.

They camped out along the route and were gone fourteen days. Miss Mildred Corey stayed over in San Francisco, where she will visit relatives a week before returning.

Sunland May Become a Big Picture Center

A few months ago there was considerable interest taken in the valley in regard to the location of a moving picture town on the order of Universal City and Inceville, to be erected on site near the park and to be called Occidental City. However, as little had been said and no work started on the project the past couple of months, many local citizens consider the chances of Sunland becoming a famous motion picture colony.

Promoters of the enterprise, though, still intend to put the deal through and build Occidental City. Through the kindness of Mrs. Frank W. Corey, a representative of this paper was able to get information regarding the future plans of the Occidental Film Manufacturing company, whose offices are located at 1222 Washington building, Los Angeles, from the secretary and treasurer, Mrs. H. C. Moore. Mrs. Moore said that the delay of promoting the deal had been occasioned for two reasons; one, a serious accident that had befallen the vice-president of the company, and the fact that the company was negotiating for grounds in addition to the seven acres already contracted for. An architect recently visited Sunland and plans are now being drawn of the buildings to be erected on the proposed site. Among the first things to be done will be the erection of a beautiful tile wall around the property, with a large archway across the highway. After which the studio, hospital and other buildings will be built. Work is expected to start about September 10 and it is planned to have a big gala day on the grounds in a couple of weeks, to which the public will be invited. The Monte Vista valley band or a good orchestra will furnish the music and an attractive program will be arranged and the citizens of this valley themselves can hear from the officers of the Occidental Film Manufacturing company the plans for the building of Occidental City.

THE SECOND MAXWELL MEETING

The second Maxwell meeting last Friday night saw Bolton hall well filled to hear the second address of Geo. Maxwell on the subject of "A Little Land and a Living." The meeting was called to order by the moderator, Fred M. Ashby, who made a short address upon the importance of getting people out of the city to live upon small tracts of land, where they could raise enough to sustain life by a few hours' work per day, without giving up their regular city avocations if they wished to keep them. An interesting discussion then took place upon the best methods of raising corn and of fighting its arch enemy in this country, the Messrs. Darlington, Miles, Hartranft, worm. This was participated in by Haverstick, Dr. Kearney, Miss Gilmore, Mrs. Hoffman and others. A good many points were brought out of interest and value.

M. V. Hartranft then explained the chart or schedule which has been gotten up by the garden committee, which will be valuable as its bimonthly issues are printed and its circulation increases. He stated that it had been copyrighted in the name of the Monte Vista Valley Board of Trade and had already attracted much attention among seedsmen and farmers.

Mr. Maxwell then gave a highly instructive talk upon the folly of so many people depending upon wages to live because they had to pare off slice after slice of their earnings to satisfy this middlemen and that agent until the residue was very small and very uncertain. Every nation of the past had fallen into decay because of this same kind of civilization, and America was fast following the same path that would lead with no uncertain sequence to decay and oblivion.

He wanted the Littlelanders to work out the better and happier plan of living off the land and to be a shining example of the new movement of connecting their life with the great heart of mother earth, to be a hope and an inspiration to the hopeless and a light to the feet of future generations. He declared it was possible, it was and it is a great movement and a necessary movement if the nation is to be saved and made whole. The great trouble with the American people is waste in domestic economy and especially in the matter of food. This should be remedied by a more careful study of the yearly menu, taking advantage of the various fruits and berries that are seasonal and canning, drying and preserving them.

The question of buying muscat grapes in quantity and making raisins of them, and peaches for drying, was discussed.

The garden committee now consists of Messrs. M. V. Hartranft, Ensign Woodruff, Wm. Miles, Fred D. Johnson, Misses Zoe M. Gilbert, Florence Gilmore and Mabel Free and Mrs. E. Darlington. This committee meets weekly on Monday afternoons and its work is of great and increasing value to the community.

It was announced that the next town meeting would be held next Friday night in conjunction with the Maxwell lecture and that a meeting of the Board of Trade would be held with the other meetings.

TROPICO

Rose Villa, the beautiful country home of Mrs. Nathan D. Burlingham, was the scene of a merry and very happy gathering of neighbors and friends who assembled Wednesday to welcome Mrs. Burlingham home after a year's visit in Fairbanks, Alaska, where she was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Neal.

Mrs. Burlingham had been purposely delayed at the home of a friend in Los Angeles on Wednesday morning, thus affording the guests ample time to arrive before 11 o'clock when their hostess would return. The surprise as well as pleasure of this most estimable woman can be imagined when she arrived and there found fifty or more guests flitting to and fro on the lawn and under the spreading branches of the grand old trees that lend such a charm to pretty Rose Villa.

Three long tables were spread beneath the heavily laden branches of a large black walnut tree and upon which was placed the delicious contents of many well-filled baskets and boxes which the surprise party had brought. Following the discussion of the menu the guests grouped themselves under the trees and while busily plying their needles in art needle work, listened to many interesting incidents relative to Mrs. Burlingham's trip in the Land of the Midnight Sun. When the late afternoon sun cast long shadows, the ladies who thus so successfully surprised their gracious hostess, folded their needle work and bidding Mrs. Burlingham, her daughter, Mrs. Burt Burlingham, and granddaughter, Miss Daphne, good-bye, departed for their homes.

The merry party consisted of Mrs. David H. Imler, Mrs. I. J. Spafford, Mrs. William W. Dutton, Mrs. Geo. Peck, Mrs. Joseph V. Griffin, Mrs. William A. BURBANK

Miss Lucile Smith of Pasadena was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Mulvey this week.

Richard Hill is building a modern five-room bungalow on Olive near Fourth. It will be for rent.

Mrs. Genevieve Thompson has returned from her vacation trip at Rainbow and her health is very much improved.

Miss Dorothy Davenport of Angelino avenue and her cousin of Los Angeles, spent the week-end at Long Beach.

The Ladies' Aid of the Christian church will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. W. E. Lawrence on Ta-junga avenue.

Dr. Thompson reports the arrival of a baby boy at the home of John Diachiae and wife of Tuna canyon on Tuesday.

The state good roads commission have big gangs of workmen widening and bracing the state highway leading from Van Nuys to Ventura.

Wm. Nickerson of the L. W. garage objects to having his friends pat him on the back this week. Reason, a fine case of sunburn the result of a week at the surf.

Myron Glenn and his aunt, Mrs. Craig, made a trip by auto to Lancaster last Friday. Mr. Glenn says that Burbank is cool indeed compared to Lancaster.

The banks will be closed two days next week. Monday is Labor Day and Thursday is Admission Day, two legal holidays in California. Make your arrangements accordingly.

Through Dr. Cline's report to the city clerk, we learn that a baby girl was born to James L. White and wife on August 27 and also one to Domincus Tuso and wife on the same date.

Mrs. R. Williams, who has been with her husband, who is employed on the state highway work, returned to her home here the first of the week. Camp life is entirely too hot to suit her.

R. J. Thompson of Glendale has bought two acres of land at Palm avenue and Fourth street, but we did not learn his intentions. Mr. Thompson's daughter, Mrs. Comber, is a resident of Burbank.

E. B. Fowler, R. O. Church, E. S. Hogle, J. A. Swall and R. R. Sence made up a party leaving here Tuesday afternoon for Antelope valley, where they spent the night so as to be in on the opening of the dove season.

Ira T. Aney, one of Glendale's popular P. E. conductors, accompanied by his two sons, was here on Wednesday to have Dr. Thompson care for the elder boy, who had fallen from their porch and sustained a fracture of the elbow.

Mr. Robert Alexander of Angelino avenue, who has been a patient at the Thompson hospital, was able to return to his home the first of the week in excellent condition. Mr. Kennedy Reeves, another patient there, was enabled to do likewise.

The Epworth League was entertained last Thursday night by Hugh Pomeroy, assisted by Miss Kocher, in the river bottoms near the Pomeroy ranch. Boat riding and games, followed by a wiene roast, provided a most delightful evening's entertainment.

H. I. Burroughs, wife and little girl of Delano, are making an extended visit with the Jack Anderson family. Mr. Burroughs was a citizen of Burbank at one time, leaving here about three years ago for ranch life at Delano, and has been very successful there.

Harland B. Peabody, instructor at the technical high school in Providence, Rhode Island, after attending the fairs at San Francisco and San Diego, made a short visit with W. D. Rogers and family. He is now on his return trip to the East, where he will resume his duties.

Maurice McGuire, wife and family returned from their vacation trip on Monday. They had an enjoyable time and return much refreshed. While enroute home they passed through Bakersfield on Sunday and the iron of their car was so hot there that you could not lay your hand on it.

W. A. Thompson, real estate, returned from a trip to Oxnard the first of the week, where he made a sale of thirty acres of land. Mr. Thompson says that with this land adjoining a city of 2000 people, with artesian water of the finest, flowing from wells only 120 feet deep, and the best sugar beet and bean land at only $290 per acre, he makes buyers sit right up and take notice.

The usual thing happened Tuesday. Two boys and a gun; gun drops; goes off; one boy is shot, but this time not dangerously. The boys were Walter Gundred and Glenn Smith, and the gun a 22-rifle. Walter Gundred has a bullet hole through the calf of his right leg, but he is a strong, hearty lad and Dr. Cline says that he will get along nicely, although the hot weather is not very favorable to gunshot wounds.

The city trustees met in regular session Tuesday afternoon at 1:45 with President Blanchard presiding and Trustees Kline and Forbes present and Hogle and Craig absent. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. It was moved by Forbes and seconded by Kline and regularly carried that proposed ordinance No. 88, "an ordinance of the city of Burbank calling a special election to be held in the city of Burbank on November 5, 1915, and submitting to the qualified voters of said city propositions of incurring indebtedness for the acquisition, construction and completion of certain municipal improvements, providing for the issuance of bonds therefor, providing that said city shall constitute one precinct for said election, prescribing the form of ballot to be used thereat, designating the polling place therefor, appointing election officers and fixing their compensation," be read the first time, which was done. Communication from P. S. McNutt, attorney for M. S. McNutt, read and ordered placed on file. Said communication being in regard to police protection. On regular motion the board then adjourned.

President Pollock of the school board received word Wednesday that the sale of the school bonds as reported in our last issue, had been confirmed and all that remains now is to have the bonds printed and signed. There were fourteen bidders at the sale and the competition was lively, eight of the fourteen offering to buy the bonds at a premium of over $1000, the successful bidder paying a premium of $1528, so that the district gets in reality $26,528 for the $25,000 bond issue, which draws 5 1/2 per cent interest. This sale is a credit to Burbank's financial reputation and also shows that the money market has taken a tendency for the better. The trustees are much pleased over the result, as everything has to be just exactly right in order to satisfy the bond buyers. The least mistake would cause the rejection of the bonds and make necessary another election. We are requested to state that the seeming delay in this sale has been occasioned by no fault of the trustees. There is just so much red tape to go through with in order to comply with the law and even now they cannot advertise for bids until they actually have the money on hand. This will take another ten days, but in the meantime the board is studying plans and consulting architects and will push matters just as fast as possible, but this matter is one time when it is wisest to make haste slowly.

LA CANADA

Mrs. R. S. Lea and two daughters, Flossie and Opal, were the dinner guests of John Armstrong and family Sunday.

Mrs. William Hamilton and two sons, Edward and William Winfield, have just returned from a two weeks' stay at Venice.

Mr. Albert Van Degrift is spending two weeks in the mountains near Bear lake. He expects to arrive at Switzer's camp next Saturday, where he will meet the La Canada Christians Endeavorers, who are planning to spend Saturday, Sunday and Monday at Switzer's camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Guidinger, Teddy Guidinger, Mr. T. Blanchard and Tommy Blanchard, Jr., spent a lovely day picnicking at Santa Monica last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stutman and family spent three days this week with Mr. Stutman's parents in Redondo.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Durand and family are spending this week in Ocean Park with friends.

Mr. William Metzger, who has been in Pioche, Nev., for several years, has returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stutz. Mr. Metzger has been in our valley many times before and we hope this time he will remain as one of us.

Mrs. Cartain and Mrs. Beham of Pittsburgh were the week-end guests of Mrs. James Penfield. These two ladies are prominent Pittsburgh women and are spending the summer touring our coast.

Mrs. Lily Howard of El Paso, Tex., was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Armstrong last week. Friday night Mrs. Armstrong entertained with a pleasant dinner party in honor of Mrs. Howard.

The Misses Margaret, Lulu and Katherine Green were the guests of Mrs. Jos. Braun of Ocean Park a few days last week. Mrs. Harold Braun was also the guest of Mrs. Braun during that time.

Tyler Van Degrift took a thirty-five-mile hike through the mountains last Sunday. He went up Mt. Lowe, across to Switzer's and home through the Arroyo Seco.

Miss Marguerite Stauffacher, Ruth Fairchild, Marion Lee and Kent Savage formed a congenial party who spent last Saturday in the Arroyo Seco.

Mrs. Robert Lee, who has been visiting for several weeks in the East, arrived home last Wednesday after a most delightful trip.

Mr. McNoughton, who bought two and one-half acres from Dr. Eversole several months ago, will have his $20,000 home completed within a month or more. Mr. McNoughton is so well pleased with our valley that he has recently purchased some more property from Capt. Brown.

Several men from Los Angeles were seen in La Canada one day last week looking for a site for a sanitarium. The most favorable sites seem to be the plateau to the east of the valley, the ten-acre stretch on the mesa, and several places on Burr avenue. These men seemed to mean business and we hope to hear from them again in the future.

Mr. Lloyd Peet, who has taken up two claims in the Antelope valley, is here for an indefinite stay. He made the trip in two days with horse and wagon. Several weeks ago Mr. Peet had received an order from a Pasadena man for as many live rattlesnakes as he could bring here. Ten live snakes came on this trip, hissing and raving all the way. When Mr. Peet took the snakes to the man in Pasadena he was disappointed to find that the present war in Europe had called the man away to his own country. The snakes were taken out into the country and killed.

The district meeting which was to be held Saturday, August 28, was postponed until Saturday, September 4, at the La Canada club hall, 7:30 sharp. The district meeting was unable to accomplish anything because of the water meeting which was booked for the same time. Those who were present looked over all the plans which were to be displayed at the regular meeting. Nothing definite will be decided until after Saturday night. The water meeting Saturday afternoon was also adjourned until Saturday September 4, at 4 p.m., as there was not enough stock represented to vote.

The La Canada Parent-Teacher association will hold its next meeting at the schoolhouse the first Friday in October. Mrs. Guidinger is working on the program, one which we will all no doubt enjoy. With Mrs. R. S. Lanterman as president this year ought to be one of the best that the Parent-Teacher association has yet experienced. Mrs. Lanterman is a very capable woman along these lines. She has held offices in one of the largest organizations of this kind in Southern California. Last year at this time this association had less than twenty-five members. Now we are proud to boast of forty, all interested and active. A cordial invitation is extended to all to join.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Van Degrift are leaving this week for their home in Los Angeles, where they will stay during the school term.

Mrs. Guidinger spent Tuesday and Wednesday with her parents in Santa Monica. Mrs. Guidinger loves Santa Monica as her own home, as she spent much of her girlhood there. Her parents have owned property there for over thirty years and are deeply infatuated with that place.

Work on the state highway began Tuesday. The camp was stationed near La Crescenta. It is expected that they will work this way.

Miss Henrietta Horne entertained with a dinner party Sunday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Horne, Miss Rowena Green, Robert Cooper, Edwin Cooper, Hardwick Van Degrift and the hostess.

Mr. Russell and Howard Stickney spent four days last week visiting the San Diego fair.

Mr. Towne has recently had several hundred dollars' worth of work done on his house. A few new rooms were added and the house was plastered throughout. The work was done by Cooper & Son.

Mr. Robert Lea and family took in the Tilton trolley trip one day last week. They stopped at several of the beaches and were taken through the Soldiers' home.

Mrs. Edwards and daughter were the guests of Mrs. Will Hood Thursday and Friday of last week.

While preparing her mid-day meal one day last week, Mrs. Guidinger was surprised upon opening her ice chest at finding a three-foot gopher snake curled up on one of the shelves. Mr. Guidinger heard a commotion in the house and ran immediately to his wife. It is still a mystery how the snake got into the chest, as it is absolutely holeproof.

Mr. and Mrs. Waterman left Tuesday for San Francisco, where they will spend about two months. They have many relatives and friends there as it was the former home of both. Mr. Waterman was born in San Francisco and spent many of his youthful days there. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Waterman have been in Frisco for fourteen years. We wish them many happy days there renewing old friendships.

Mrs. Guidinger of Burr avenue was the guest at a party given in honor of her sister, Mrs. Hull, Saturday afternoon. The party was given at the home of Mrs. Guidinger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott of Santa Monica. Mr. and Mrs. Hull live on a four hundred acre ranch at Rasin, and are spending their summer vacation at Santa Monica.

Among the crimes for which there is no prescribed penalty is that of asking, "Is it hot enough for you?"
